FEAR WAR IN LIBEL SUIT

FIGHT ON WAR FRAUDS TOLD BY DAUGHERTY

"Best Legal Minds" to Be Chosen.

As spokesman for President Harding at the annual dinner of the Illinois Bar association last night, Attorney General H. M. Daugherty outlined the policies to be pursued by the administration in the two most important acts which the federal department of justice will perform in the near future—the making of recommendations for the appointment of some twenty additional federal judges under pending congressional legislation, and the prosecution of those responsible for frauds on war contracts.

Mr. Daugherty declared he had Harding's permission to ask for the wholehearted cooperation of the nation's bench and bar in both projects, with the assurance that political influence and the question of patronage will have no weight in the selection of judges and that every safeguard will be taken to prevent any undue influence being brought to bear on the selection of judges.

Does Not Mention Morse Case. While he did not mention the Morse case, Mr. Daugherty intimated that the criticism directed at him recently had been inspired by the activities of his department in the fraud cases.

Speaking before the same body in the afternoon, he had declared the nationwide lawlessness which has arisen as a result of prohibition laws and other federal legislation and urged that the states remove some of the prosecuting burden from his department by enforcing state police laws that cover the same grounds as the federal acts.

Lawyer Discusses Foreign Affairs. Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, who followed the attorney general on the evening program, pleaded for the establishment of a permanent foreign policy to be maintained through a diplomatic corps unchanged with each succeeding administration. From observations made on his recent foreign tour he expressed the belief that the salvation of Europe lies only in the limitation of the reparations demanded of Germany, the throwing of the full moral weight of America and England behind France as a guarantee of her future protection against invasion, the overthrow of the soviet by 6,000,000 "cooperatives" in Russia, and the willingness of European governments to plan their budgets on a basis divorced from expected reparations from Germany.

U. S. Judiciary "Neglected." At the outset of his evening address Mr. Daugherty declared that from the standpoint of comfort and compensation the federal judiciary has been neglected more than any other branch of the government. "The attorney general probably had in mind the recent loss to the federal bench of Judge Landis, whom, he said, he was endeavoring to induce to take charge of the new war contract division. "If I can get Judge Landis to stop beating up files long enough he is the man most needed for the job," said Mr. Daugherty.

As to the selection of federal judges, the attorney general declared the policy will be first to investigate as to honesty and ability, and with those qualities assured, he said he would discount brains 10 per cent for an additional 5 per cent of the right kind of courage. "At no time in the history of the country, he said, has fearlessness on the bench and in the department of justice been more necessary than now. He had President Harding's permission, he said, to read a letter which he sent the chief executive on April 3 urging the absolute divorce of political influences and patronage from the appointments and removals of the department of justice in full accord with this policy.

Criticism Was Expected. Mr. Daugherty said he had expected criticism to be directed at his department. "We are not disappointed nor are we discouraged," he said. "One unfortunate thing exists, and that is that those who criticize in most instances know nothing of the facts and generally are in good faith and do not assign the real reason for their apparent dissatisfaction. All partisanship and all selfish interests of every kind, all factionalism, and all prejudice is eliminated from the work, as it is in all the work of the department of justice. The rap on the door of the department of justice by any person or persons or a small portion of the press which desires sensational prosecution to get even with some person falls on deaf ears."

Mr. Daugherty said he and his associates on page 4, column 4.

99 CIVIC BODIES LAUNCH A DRIVE FOR SUBWAYS

All-Chicago Council Prods Aldermen.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The all-Chicago council, representing ninety-nine civic, business, and improvement organizations of the city, stepped to bat yesterday and announced what it will stand for, work for, and get approval of in improved transportation in Chicago. It told the council local transportation committee it wants a comprehensive plan for the entire city—not for the downtown section alone—and a plan whereby the lines will be the property of the city, but operated, controlled, and supervised by a regulating body composed of all parties in interest—public, employers, municipality, and investors.

Proposed Ordinances Read.

The meeting was called to receive the ordinances prepared for initial passage by the council.

Both provide for a rapid transit subway of four tracks between 18th street and Chicago avenue on a downtown street to be selected. Both also provide for two-track east and west subways for surface lines between Clinton street and Grant park. One ordinance provides that the Washington and Van Buren street tunnels under the river shall be used and the other provides for new river tubes in Jackson boulevard and Randolph street. The latter idea is to avoid entanglements with the surface lines, the lawyers holding they have certain rights in the Van Buren and Washington street tunnels.

What Council Asks For.

The all-Chicago council, in a resolution presented by E. E. Gore, chairman, asked for the following action:

"Be it resolved that the council committee on local transportation be requested to formulate an ordinance providing for the purchase by the city of existing elevated and surface lines and providing for such extensions thereof as are shown to be necessary; such ordinance, however, to provide for operation of such lines through the medium of a properly authorized and constituted body in such manner as effectively to remove such operation from municipal direction.

"And be it further resolved, That the all-Chicago council is opposed to the passage of any ordinance which provides for application of the so-called traction fund to the building of a subway in the downtown district or to any use of such traction fund, save in connection with and as a part of a comprehensive plan for extension and improvement of traction facilities for the city as a whole."

The committee's request for the views of President Henry A. Blair of the Surface Lines and President Leonard A. Busby of the Chicago City Railway company brought replies. Mr. Blair, because of the attitude of Chairman Schwartz for municipal ownership and operation, did not think it worth while to submit the plan he had worked out.

Busby Urges Forward Action.

Mr. Busby wrote at length. He commended the plan worked out in 1914, which, he asserted, was the best plan which has been formulated. One paragraph of the Busby letter which appeared to interest the aldermen most reads:

"While this ordinance (1918, embodying the 1916 plan) was defeated on referendum, on the claim of its opponents that passage of the ordinance meant increased fares, and its defeat meant a continuance of the 5 cent fare, a fallacy long since exposed—the fact remains that that ordinance represented another step towards municipal ownership. I do not believe that the public will recede from this position of vantage, or that any plans looking to the extension of the period of private ownership and operation would be approved. This situation cannot be gained, and, in my opinion, must be reckoned with. After all, the question of ownership is not as important as the problem of providing an adequate transportation system."

PAY CUT NOTICE GIVEN TO CAR MEN

The wages of the 14,000 surface carmen are to be cut. The officers of the carmen's union, William Quinlan, president; William Taber, treasurer; and Joseph J. Kehoe, secretary, received notice from President Blair of the surface lines yesterday afternoon that the companies desire to modify existing agreements. This gave the required thirty days' notice and asked the union officials to set a date for beginning negotiations. Quinlan declined to comment on the notification and Blair refused to admit the notice had been sent.

City to Move for Rebase.

This is the first development following the federal court decree that surface line fares shall be reduced from 8 to 7 cents, with three tickets for 20 cents, beginning June 15. The order itself has not been entered. When it is placed on record it will dispose of what rebate, if any, shall be given car riders. It is expected that the city lawyers today will present a form of order providing for a rebate, and that the companies' lawyers will suggest an order without a rebate.

The amount of the wage cut will first be a matter of negotiation. If that fails, the matter should be referred to arbitration, because the present agreement calls for that course.

Rumors of 20 Per Cent Cut.

It was reported in the public prints yesterday that the companies contemplate a wage cut of 20 per cent. Quinlan said this was so large he did not believe Blair will ask anything of the kind. Neither side is expected to make a bona fide statement of its attitude before negotiations are well under way.

Undoubtedly the surface lines will ask the wage cut to accept a much larger one. The reduction in fare probably will be figured at $2,300,000, instead of $7,800,000 or $7,600,000. This larger estimate is on the assumption that one-third will pay 7 cents and the other two-thirds will ride on tickets and that there will be a considerable loss on reduced fares for children. The $2,300,000 is more than 30 per cent of the last total pay roll.

It is understood there will be a meeting of the board of control of the surface lines early next week to decide upon its wage policy. This board consists of Henry A. Blair, C. C. Adair, F. O. Wetmore, L. A. Busby, W. Heckman, H. B. Riley, and F. H. Rawson.

When the street car fare was 7 cents, conductors and motormen were paid a maximum of 45 cents per hour, and when the wage jumped to 8 cents the fare was made 8 cents.

Quinlan, Taber and Kehoe predicted yesterday that the men will not accept a wage cut at present. Their formal statement recites that since 1908 approximately $40,000,000 of the earnings of the surface lines had been turned over to the city of Chicago, with "very little benefit to the public," while the companies themselves have earned vast sums above expenses.

The statement accuses Chester E. Cleveland, as the representative of the city of trying "to lower the standard of living of the street car men," and concludes with the assertion that "we can assure Mr. Cleveland that we will endeavor to take care of ourselves when the time comes."

Chairman Frank L. Smith of the Illinois commerce commission said yesterday that it will soon start hearings on a fare reduction on the elevated roads.

31 U. S. Ships at $700,000 Each Sold for $5,000 Each Beaumont, Tex., June 1.—Thirty-one surplus ships of the United States navy were sold yesterday to the hands of Pendleton Brothers of New York. Twenty-five of these are stored here and at Houston. These ships cost the government about $700,000 each during the war. While the exact price paid by the New York ship brokers is not known, it is said to be about $5,000 each, or a total of $1,250,000.

75 Blacks Defy Texans; at Bay in Farmhouse

BULLETIN.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 3, 1:30 p. m.—A mob of white persons, estimated at between 750 and 1,000, has left Kirvin for Simsboro, four miles south, determined to burn the residences of the colored people and shoot the occupants, a long distance message to the Fort Worth Record from Kirvin stated early this morning.

Dallas, Tex., June 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—Conflicting reports as to a siege which officers and white citizens are said to have established about a house full of colored men near Kirvin, following the killing of Leroy Gibson, 19, colored, after officers had arrested him in connection with assault and killing of Miss Eula Aweary, school girl, near Kirvin May 4, were received here tonight.

Surrounded by a mob of heavily armed white men, between seventy-five and 100 colored men, likewise armed, and barricaded in a house on the Powell farm, south of Kirvin, are resisting efforts to dislodge them, according to a report from Kirvin.

A Fort Worth dispatch was received that reports of the trouble were exaggerated and the band said to be hiding at the Powell farm could not be found.

Big Mob Move, Report.

Calls for arms and ammunition, said the report from Kirvin, brought hundreds from Corsicana, Mexia, Streetman, Wortham, Teague, and nearby towns, who are gathering in Kirvin to go to the assistance of the officers if needed. The dispatch from Fort Worth, however, said the crowd was not organized.

Killing of a colored man by a white man and the killing of the white man in turn were reported from Streetman, but the report was not confirmed.

No Call for Troops.

Austin, Texas, June 3.—No requests have been made for rangers or troops to aid in handling the situation at Kirvin, Adm. Gen. Barton said tonight. He has heard nothing officially concerning the trouble.

STRANGE FIGHT OF BROADHURST AND RICH MAN AT SEA

Playwright Beaten in Cabin, Is Charge.

Baltimore, June 3.—John B. Symon, wealthy member of the wrecking firm of Symon Brothers, San Francisco, was held under $5,000 bond by United States Commissioner Supple, Jr., this afternoon, for assaulting George Broadhurst, playwright and manager of the Broadhurst theater, New York, on the high seas. Symon was arrested by department of justice agents, who had been notified by wireless of the attack, when the Columbia from San Francisco docked here.

After conference with U. S. District Attorney Carman Mr. Broadhurst placed the charge against Symon, and the formal arrest was made.

Calls Attack "Murderous."

At the hearing Mr. Broadhurst described an attack up him in his stateroom on the night of May 26, that Commissioner Supple afterward characterized as "a practically murderous assault."

Shortly after 11 o'clock on that night, Mr. Broadhurst testified, he retired. Because of the disturbance in the adjoining cabin, he went into the hallway and called out: "Boys, you've had a nice long party, and now I suggest that you get to bed and give somebody else a chance."

Retiring to his cabin, Mr. Broadhurst said, he climbed into a berth, when suddenly Symon, stripped of clothing, rushed into his cabin, grabbed him, and hurled him to the floor, his head striking against a trunk.

Kicked Him While Down.

He said Symon hit him several blows in the face and kicked him in the groin, and he then lapsed into a semi-conscious condition.

Under cross-examination Mr. Broadhurst said that he had twice changed his stateroom aboard the steamer because of the noise.

Joseph J. Mahoney of San Francisco, passenger on the steamer, testified for the defense. He practically corroborated Broadhurst's testimony, except that he said Mr. Broadhurst had entered Symon's cabin, where they had been drinking.

QUESTIONED ON HIS ACTIVITIES DURING THE WAR

Congressman Kahn Also Testifies.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Mayor William Hale Thompson was put on the witness stand in Judge Wilson's court late yesterday afternoon, as the second witness for The Tribune in his $500,000 libel suit against this newspaper. The first witness was Congressman Julius Kahn of California, chairman of the military affairs committee of the house, who said that public opinion in 1917 held that any citizen who obstructed the government in its war efforts was a traitor to his country.

The mayor's attorneys closed their prima facie case during the morning. Arguments by counsel for The Tribune to have one count in the pleas dismissed were overruled.

The mayor's entrance upon the scene was dramatic. After Mr. Kahn had left the stand at 3:30 o'clock, Attorney Weymouth Kirkland said:

"I want to call the plaintiff. We served him with a subpoena at the Chicago Athletic club thirty-five minutes ago—an instant subpoena."

Wells for Mayor to Show Up.

As the mayor was not in the room, Judge Wilson looked at his attorneys, Chester Cleveland and David H. Jackson.

"Any information on it, gentlemen?" he asked.

"I will find out," said Mr. Cleveland as he left the room.

Returning in a few minutes, he said: "He will be right up."

"How long will it be?" asked the court.

"He said he would come right up," replied Mr. Cleveland.

"Will it be five or ten minutes?"

"I think it will be less than that, your honor."

"I will wait," said the judge as he left the bench.

At 3:45 o'clock the mayor, accompanied by Corporation Counsel Eitelson and Dr. William H. Reid, commissioner of public service, entered the room. The court had crowded up in the meantime, as the report spread quickly through the building. Judge Wilson returned.

"Call the plaintiff," said Mr. Kirkland.

MAYOR ON THE STAND.

The examination by Mr. Kirkland followed:

NEW HARVESTER HEAD IS HERO OF BIG INDUSTRY

Began 30 Years Ago as Employee in Obscure Job.

From the inauspicious position of collector in a remote branch office to the president's chair in one of the far flung industries of the country—that is the story of Alexander Legge, who yesterday was elected head of the International Harvester company, to succeed Harold F. McCormick.

Mr. McCormick declined reelection to the presidency of the Harvester company and nominated Mr. Legge to succeed him. And Mr. Legge was at once unanimously elected.

Alexander Legge's career has been one of hard work, the story of which would make pithy material for a business novel. It is said of him that his advance has been steady as the passing of time. His kindly brusque manner, say his associates, and his rugged stature—he is 6 feet 2 inches tall and built proportionately—is known to thousands of Harvester company workers.

Baruch's War Assistant.
During the war he was recognized as a leader in the War Industries Board. At first the Council for National Defense, Bernard Baruch of New York was chairman of this board. Mr. Legge was vice chairman. Immediately after the war he went to Europe and spent time in France, Germany, and Russia, where he assisted in reorganizing their industries for them.

This work is said to have saved those countries vast amounts of money and misdirected energy; his reports of conditions and recommendations are considered documents of economic importance. Later he went to the peace conference as an industrial observer and here again compiled reports of value.

With Harvester Co. 30 Years.
Mr. Legge has been connected with the harvester industry for more than thirty years. He made his start as collector of farmers' paper, selling agricultural implements on the side. In 1891, in the Omaha branch of the then McCormick Harvester company.

In 1894 he was made collection manager in charge of farmers' paper, in the Council Bluffs office of the McCormick company. In 1898 he was made branch manager at Council Bluffs.

A few years before this Harold F. McCormick, then a youth just out of college, set out to learn the business. Mr. McCormick went first into the machine shops of the then McCormick company, where he remained for a time learning this end of the industry. Later he went to the Council Bluffs office, a student of collections and salesmanship, and it was here he met Alexander Legge.

Two Men, One Soul.
The two men soon became warm friends—a friendship which has warmed the years. Mr. McCormick returned to Chicago in 1897 and in 1898, about a year later, came Mr. Legge's appointment as branch manager at Council Bluffs. In 1899 he was called to Chicago and made manager of the collection department of the old McCormick Harvester company.

From this time on Mr. Legge's advance was rapid. In 1902, when the International Harvester company was formed through the consolidation of the McCormick company, the Deering company and a number of smaller concerns, Mr. Legge was appointed assistant manager of domestic sales.

In 1906 came his appointment as assistant general manager of the International Harvester company; and in 1913 he became general manager. He was appointed vice president and general manager in 1919, the position he has occupied up until his election as president yesterday afternoon.

Educated in Experience's School.
Mr. Legge is self-educated; his schooling amounted to a few years at the elementary grammar grades. For his associates say of him that there is probably not a "finer economic brain in America today than his."

Will Still Be Active.
And hence his resignation to take the chairmanship of an "executive committee" created by the board of directors also yesterday—a committee

MERIT

Alexander Legge, who was yesterday elected president of the International Harvester company to succeed Harold F. McCormick, who resigned to become chairman of the executive committee.

Invested with the powers of the board itself when the board is not in session, Mr. McCormick continued.

The change in the presidency of the company and the creation of an executive committee has been in contemplation for more than a year. I felt that I could give more time to the policies of the company and the largest questions which arise from time to time under the new arrangement than was possible when I was president of the company. I do not contemplate any diminution of my interest in or service to the company.

Other Officers Chosen.
Other officers elected by the board of the company were announced as follows: H. F. Perkins, A. E. McKinstry, and H. E. Utley, vice presidents; William D. McHugh, general counsel; George A. Ranney, secretary and treasurer; W. M. Reay, controller; and John P. Wilson, consulting counsel.

HARVARD'S STAND ON JEWS MAY BE EYED OFFICIALLY

Boston, Mass., June 2.—An order for an investigation of the "alleged or proposed discrimination against Jews" in entrance restrictions at Harvard university was introduced in the legislature today by Representative Webster. The order, which was referred to the rules committee, would provide for the creation of a committee to make the inquiry and for a report to the next annual session, so that "prospective students of all races and nationalities shall have equal rights and opportunity of admission."

Criticism arose when a statement was issued by the college authorities in regard to the problems created by increased enrollment, which, toward the end, said:

"It is natural that there should be talk about the proportion of Jews at the college."

Harvard authorities today announced that no new plan for undergraduate enrollment had been adopted or would be adopted for a considerable time.

NEW WAGE SLASH FOR RAILROADERS MAY COME TODAY

Labor Board Expected to Make $50,000,000 Cut.

While another round in the controversy between the United States railroad labor board and the Pennsylvania railroad was being fought out in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday, members of the labor group of the board were said to be preparing a dissenting minority report, to be issued probably today, when the board is expected to hand down its decision slashing approximately $50,000,000 from the annual wages of 500,000 shopmen.

The new wage cut, it was said, would have been made public yesterday but for the delay in preparing the minority opinion.

The court took the Pennsylvania case under advisement, no indication was given as to what the ruling will be other than a remark made by Judge Baker, who, sitting with Judges Alschuler and Evans, took exception to the line of reasoning followed by Blackburn Esterline, special assistant attorney general, in his closing argument. The board is appealing from a decision rendered some time ago by Federal Judge Fugate upholding an injunction restraining the board from making public a decision censuring the Pennsylvania for its refusal to hold another election among its employees, as ordered by the board.

Says Powers Advisory.
Mr. Esterline contended that the powers of the board merely are of an advisory nature, and that that body can no more be enjoined from expressing and publishing an opinion than the President can be enjoined from sending a message to congress or a congressional committee prevented from publishing a report.

"I do not consider that that question is involved," said Judge Baker. "The fundamental question is whether the board acted within its jurisdiction in its order to the railroad and, if it did, whether or not the power under which it acted is constitutional."

The railroad attorney, T. J. Scofield and J. B. Heiserman, argued that the board acted without its jurisdiction in issuing the order. Mr. Scofield declared that the board is operating on an "open shop" basis, employing both union and nonunion men, and that the board's order directing the names of the labor organizations to be placed on the ballots was in effect an order for a "closed shop" representation.

Concedes Some Rights.
He admitted the right of the board to prescribe "just and reasonable" rules, but denied the board's power to direct how the rules governing employees should be made.

Mr. Esterline announced that if the injunction is upheld by the Court of Appeals the board will carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

In the meanwhile, eleven rail unions are carrying forward their plans for the joint meeting to be held in Cincinnati on Tuesday morning to consider the wage reduction of $48,000,000 handed 400,000 maintenance of way men a week ago, and the other reduction that are expected to follow within the next few days.

assistants were aware many honest mistakes in bookkeeping had been made on war contracts and that every honest man would be given ample opportunity to straighten these out before prosecution is started. District attorneys, he said, have been instructed to have no indictments returned except in cases where there was such a strong probability of guilt as to insure conviction.

Expressing his amazement at crime conditions in Chicago, Mr. Daugherty asserted that this city has the reputation of being the most lawless community in the United States.

Asked how the conditions might be remedied, the attorney general said that was up to Chicago.

"It's a local situation," he said, "and Chicago enforcement officials will have to use the local enforcement machinery to clean up the community. Chicago cannot expect the national government to come and enforce laws on the state statute books."

MAKE FIGHT IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(Special.)—The fight of ex-service men in the house for an investigation of Attorney General Daugherty's failure to prosecute war grafters will be transferred to the senate.

Although they still have several cards to play in the house, Representatives Woodruff (Mich.) and Johnson (S. D.) today sought the assistance of Republican senators and appealed to them to force a senatorial inquiry.

Senator Watson (Ga.), Democrat, told the senate that Andrew Durbin, who supplied him with much of his information concerning the attorney general, had been jailed on an old charge suddenly revived.

Durbin saw Senator Watson several days ago and told him that Daugherty had ordered the release of certain violators of the prohibition law after they and their cargoes of whiskey had been seized by dry agents.

A little while later, Durbin was seized and placed in jail by Washington authorities. Senator Watson charged that Durbin was "framed up to keep him from telling me about the actions of the attorney general."

CAMP ROOSEVELT VETS WILL DINE; CONTEST IS OPEN

"Veterans" of Camp Roosevelt, 500 strong, will hold their annual dinner at the Central Y. M. C. A. June 9, at which Maj. Frank L. Beale, head of military training in the schools, and Angus Hibbard, chairman of the Camp Roosevelt association, will speak.

Meanwhile would-be recruits for the camp are continuing to send in essays on the life of Theodore Roosevelt that may include them in the lucky fifteen to spend three weeks at the camp at the expense of The Tatlers.

Remember, the contest closes June 15. No essays received after that date will be considered. They must be original work, written on one side of the paper, with the writer's name, his address, and his school.

TOO MUCH SPACE TO BLACKGUARDS IN NEWSPAPERS

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(Special.)—President Harding feels very keenly the attacks that are being made from time to time on various members of the cabinet.

The President does not think it fitting to reply to any of these attacks and has been particularly silent on the assaults upon Attorney General Daugherty, whom he is known to uphold, but he has resented a recent criticism of Secretary Hoover in connection with the Russian relief work voiced in the senate the other day by Senator Watson and has let it be known that he thinks the press devotes too much attention to the utterances of blackguards and does not say enough about the great things that are being accomplished by such things as the American relief in Russia.

An Example Recalled.
To illustrate his thought about attacks on members of the cabinet, the President cited to some of his associates the fact that he, at the instance of Secretary Hoover, had just written a letter of condolence to a mother whose last son had lost his life, a victim to typhus, in the American famine relief service in Russia. The work that this young man was doing, the President felt, was as fine and heroic a thing as a man could do. There was no glory in it. His work was an unthought, unglorified, big hearted noble sacrifice.

Hundreds Making Sacrifices.
There were hundreds like him, he pointed out on the firing line of a generous civilization. In the face of such noble sacrifices by Americans on behalf of their government, the President is greatly downcast by men who cry out without warrant about graft in such a service for humanity as Senator Watson of Georgia did the other day in the senate.

One great trouble, the President thinks, is that the press gives too much space to the utterances of the blackguard and not enough about the really great and good things the government is doing.

NAVAL DIPLOMA SPELLS SERVICE, ROOSEVELT SAYS

Annapolis, Md., June 2.—Members of a naval academy graduating class again today were presented their diplomas by a Roosevelt.

Today it was Theodore Roosevelt, son of the late President, who as acting secretary of the navy, due to the absence of Secretary Denby, welcomed the more than four hundred midshipmen of the class of 1922 to places in the permanent naval establishment of the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt impressed upon the members of the class—probably the largest class to be commissioned for years to come—that they were starting on a life service.

"Your career is the sea," he told them, "but your career is not simply the sea—for your career is the sea and public service. We speak of the men of the navy as 'in the service.' Those simple little words convey in themselves volumes. They constitute a tacit recognition of the fact that our navy men are public servants. In embracing the naval profession men dedicate themselves to a life, not of gain, but of service. I know of no higher resolution than this."

TAX LIST SHOWS CAREY'S BONDS MILLION SHORT

Hearington Murphy-Mader
Bail Continued.

State's Attorney Crowe yesterday showed that, though Thomas Carey, bondman for "Big Tim" Murphy and Fred "Frenchy" Mader, had signed bonds in criminal cases requiring a schedule of $1,558,000 worth of property, the value of Carey's property, according to the tax list, totals only $135,844, this allowing for the fact that the tax value of property is technically one-half its real value.

According to the state's attorney's figures, Carey has signed bonds covering 113 criminal indictments, totalling $229,000. The law requires that the schedule show property twice the value of the bond, in Carey's case $1,558,000. Carey has scheduled his brickyard and his residence as surety. The first, that scheduled on the Murphy-Mader bonds, is shown by the tax list to be worth $61,484, the latter $18,484. This makes a total tax value of $87,977, or a full value of twice that amount.

Scanlan Continues Hearing.
The disclosure by the state's attorney followed the hearing before Chief Justice Scanlan on the state's motion for Carey to justify the two $75,000 bonds which he furnished Murphy and Mader. Judge Scanlan continued the hearing.

Out of the 113 bonds furnished by Carey it was shown that 61 had been signed without the O. K. of the bond department.

In proof of the speed with which the Criminal court and the state's attorney's office will push the prosecution of labor cases, the first calls for the six new judges who will sit in the Criminal court were published yesterday. The first cases will be called Tuesday morning in the various courtrooms in the County building.

Hansen Remains in Custody.
Harry "Smash" Hansen, held by the police in connection with the recent murder of Lieut. Lyons and bombing and slugging outrages, was ordered left in the custody of the police yesterday by Judge David.

Hansen, on questioning by the court, declared that Melville R. Thomson was not his lawyer and that he had no desire to leave the custody of the police. He denied a statement by Thomson that he was afraid to be released because the police would kill him. After hearing arguments from both sides, including a statement from Special Prosecutor Elwood Goodman that he and the sheriff had consulted together and decided that Hansen would not be turned over to the sheriff, Judge David remanded Hansen to the custody of the police.

Mrs. Madeline Dempsey, wife of man who shot Charlotte Abel, who told of how her husband had deserted her for the girl he wounded.

SHOOT "OTHER WOMAN," THEN SLASHES SELF

Married Man Causes Panic in Street Crowd.

The sensational trial in 1918 of Francis A. Becker, Thompson-Lundin political lieutenant in the Twenty-first ward, on charges of accepting bribes for the protection of vice, in which Becker was called "the invisible chief of police," was recalled yesterday in the shooting of Charlotte Abel, 23 years old, 2932 West Jackson boulevard, by James Dempsey, 50 years old, 1837 West Adams street.

Dempsey was arrested shortly after the acquittal of Becker and was said at that time by the police to have confessed to fixing the jury which freed Becker. Dempsey was later freed.

Pursued by Crowd.
Yesterday Dempsey, stirred to madness by the indifference of the girl, with whom he lived for two years, police say, approached her at Van Buren street and Francisco avenue as she waited with several others for a car. After shooting Miss Abel twice Dempsey fled, pursued by a crowd. He took shelter in an apartment building at 2905 West Van Buren street, where he fired several shots over the heads of his pursuers, and then cut his throat.

Dempsey and Miss Abel are not expected to live.

The shooting was a climax to an old love affair which Dempsey was unable to tear from his heart, but had cooled as far as the girl was concerned.

Met Her Five Years Ago.
It started nearly five years ago when Miss Abel came to room with Dempsey and his wife, after leaving her grandmother's home. Six months later Dempsey left his wife and child to live with Miss Abel. Discovering, after two years, the girl was going out with other men, Dempsey ordered her out. Later he returned to live with his wife. Recently he has been writing to Miss Abel, trying to revive her regard for him. Failing, he sought to kill her and himself.

LUNDIN COHORTS MIGHTY STILL ON JUDICIAL PLANS

Coalitionists to Man Polls for Monday Battle.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Fred Lundin is mighty slow in getting into action if he intends to grab off a Superior court judge at Monday's election, or the city hall machine has a new card it expects to pull.

Coalition leaders, including the so-called Democratic organization and the harmonized Demos-Crowe-Brundage Republican groups, were unable to discover any effort on the part of the Thompson-Lundin formation to get by with the reflection of Judge Harry B. Miller by the "written-in" route.

Coalitionists Are Busy.
The coalition management overlooked no bet, however, and made final preparations to launch wards and precincts as on regular election days. The Democratic organization announced it is fully equipped and prepared to man the polls Monday.

The Republican organization sent out the word they are prepared to work in harmony with the Democrats in assuring the election of the five sitting judges whose terms are expiring—Judges McDonald, Sullivan, Dever, Sabath, and Gridley—and to assure the election of Ald. Walter P. Steffen, the Republican candidate endorsed by the coalition.

Vote Estimates Vary Widely.
Estimates on the total vote range from 100,000 or less, made by Chief Clerk George F. Lohman of the board of election commissioners, up to 250,000, figured as possible by Martin J. O'Brien, chairman of the Democratic county committee.

The Republican estimate is fixed at 175,000 by Charles V. Barrett, in command of the Republican end of the coalition campaign. Chairman O'Brien and Barrett agree that it is to be an easy victory for the coalition candidates.

In the fight for four Municipal court judges it was said that probabilities are that names will be written in by the wholesale and no definite results are expected until the official canvass is completed late next week.

The polls will be open from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. next Monday.

MYSTERY GIRL TO REVEAL SHARE IN WARD BLACKMAIL

'Inside Story' Checkup Proves a Dud.

New York, June 2.—(Special)—The mysterious auburn-haired young woman, whispered as the "Jure" of blackmailers seeking money from Walter S. Ward, who killed Clarence Peters, left Pittsburgh tonight to tell her story to Sheriff George Werner in White Plains.

The girl, so rumor goes, was scheduled to act the role of a "rump" back in 1919, but rebelled. Some officials now believe it was this old scheme, revived that brought about Peter's death. Official investigation of James J. Cunningham's story of the circumstances surrounding the killing of Peters by Ward failed today to establish any conclusive proof or disproof of his statement as a whole.

Denied by His Lawyer.
Cunningham's attorney, Maurice J. McCarthy, denied Cunningham's story of the telephone call at 1:30 o'clock on the morning of May 18 to go to Stamford and take care of the second man said to have been shot by Ward.

An inquiry among taxicab drivers and hospitals in Stamford, Conn., conducted by Sheriff Werner, detective employed by District Attorney Fredrick E. Weeks, and the Stamford police failed to substantiate Cunningham's statement that the wounded man was taken from New Rochelle—or from the Bronx—first to a Stamford drug store, then to a doctor's office and then to a private hospital in Stamford.

Fall to Find Two Fals.
The investigators were unable to locate the two men said by Cunningham to have accompanied Peters to meet Ward on the night the former sailor was shot. These men he identified as Charley Rogers and one Jackson.

The authorities were unable to get any information to support Cunningham's statement that Ward became infuriated and began shooting when he realized the blackmailers had tricked him to reveal a certain secret in the hearing of an attorney for his father, George S. Ward, president of the Ward Baking company.

1 BALLOON DRIFTS SOMEWHERE OVER NORTH AMERICA

By the Associated Press.

Indications last night were that an army, navy, and independent balloon will represent America in the international balloon races to be held in Switzerland.

The navy balloon piloted by Lieut. W. F. Reed was the only one of the thirteen contestants that started in the national race from Milwaukee Wednesday unaccounted for last night, and was believed to be up in the clouds somewhere over the great lakes region.

Five of the six balloonists in the air at dawn yesterday landed during the day.

H. E. Honeywell of St. Louis, an independent pilot, reported that he had landed about twenty miles south of Joplin, Mo., after covering about 150 miles.

Maj. Oscar Westover of Washington, piloting an army balloon, came down near Lake St. John, province of Quebec, Canada. The distance is 900 miles from the starting point.

Maj. Westover and Mr. Honeywell covered greater distances than any of the balloons yet landed. Nothing had been heard of the balloon piloted by Lieut. Reed since Thursday night. If he makes a successful landing it is thought that his balloon will be one of the winners, unless it runs into winds that force it back on its course.

It was learned last night that Lieut. Commander J. P. Norfleet, piloting a helium filled navy balloon, and not a contestant, had landed at Hancock, Mo., while Capt. Harold E. Weeks of the army came down near Witt, Ill., and Ward T. Van Orman, Akron, civilian, landed at Fayette, Mo.

If Lieut. Reed is over the great lakes region, weather bureau officials said, he might land in western New York state, western Pennsylvania, or eastern Ohio. His balloon is silver gray, with "U. S. Navy" on it.

Girl Takes Poison When Denied Sight of Youth

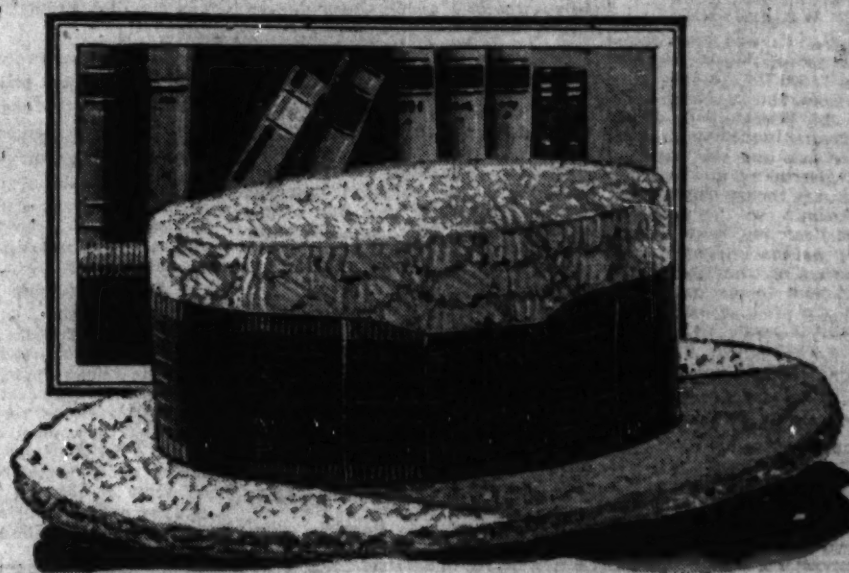

Pearl Sanderson, a waitress, took poison on the steps of the home of Albert S. Campbell, 1033 Diverser parkway, last night just as Sheffield avenue police arrived in response to a call from Mrs. Campbell, the man's mother. Miss Sanderson's regard for Albert Campbell, while she roomed in the Campbell home, caused the mother to request the girl to leave. She returned last night, and fearing a scene, the mother called police.

BRITISH RUSH 2 MORE REGIMENTS TO GUARD ULSTER

BULLETIN.
BELFAST, June 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—When the police arrested seven persons tonight for looting a mob gathered and tried to rescue the prisoners. Shooting followed, in which a civilian was killed. A bomb was thrown in the street, wounding four persons.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, June 2.—Ulster was granted greater control over the British troops in the north of Ireland by the British cabinet this afternoon. The decision applies only to operations of the troops on the Ulster side of the border and the northern government is not permitted to order invasions of Free State territory.

The concessions to the Ulsterites resulted from the insistent demands of Sir James Craig and Lord Londonderry who pointed out the menace of the Republican troops who are massing on the frontier and warned that the Sinn Féiners might sweep over the special constabulary and Ulster forces, if they attacked over a wide front.

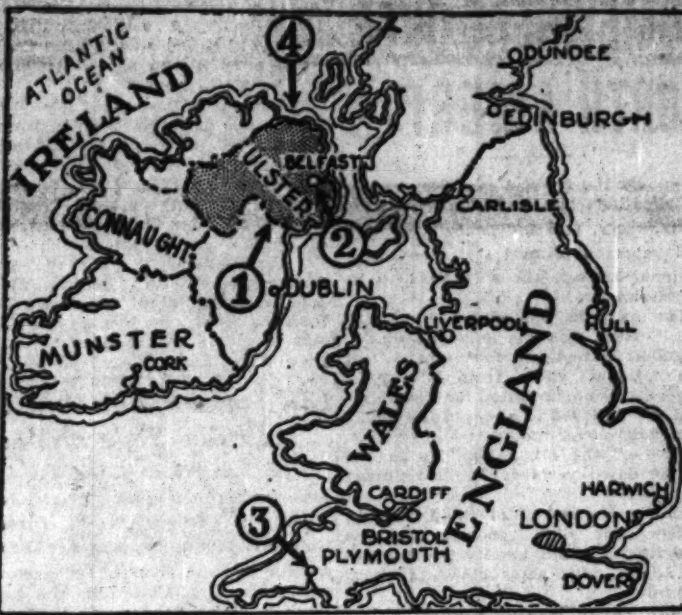

Sir Laming Worthington Evans, minister of war, and Lord Cavan, chief of the imperial general staff, assured Prime Minister Lloyd George that they have no objections of placing British troops under the Ulsterists provided the latter cooperated with the English commanding officers and the war department and general staff. Further reinforcements are being rushed to Ireland, the 24 king's own and Scottish troops starting from Plymouth today.

Late tonight Arthur Griffith presented the answers of the Dublin provisional government to six questions propounded to the Irish delegates by the British cabinet yesterday. The answers, it was stated, were such as to permit combination of the Anglo-Irish negotiations.

ANGRY AT BRITISH

BY THOMAS RYAN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Copyright, 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.
BELFAST, June 2.—The curfew rang successfully on Belfast last night.

THE WAR IN IRELAND

1—Considerable fighting and heavy concentrations of Ulster and South Irish republicans mark the activities along the border.

2—Belfast was the scene of more rioting and additional British troops are arriving to fight the lawless elements.

3—Two regiments of British troops left Plymouth, England, for service in Ulster.

4—British destroyer searches vessels off coast of Londonderry.

there being but three killed and twenty-five wounded and eighteen houses burned, as compared with the heavy casualties of the day before.

A serious situation obtains here between local Protestants and the British Norfolk troops detailed by the police in the troubled areas. The soldiers are disliked by the Protestants because they protect the Catholics. The Protestants complain that the Norfolk officers threaten them with revolvers when they congregate for their usual evening excitement.

The Norfolk privates say their present duty is distasteful. They are itching to fire on the local mobs.

On the Battlefield.

In the Shankill Road district the Protestant and Catholic streets are mixed in a hopeless tangle. An actual front exists over which flies the Union Jack. On the Protestant side the buildings are clean and orderly and people crowd the narrow streets. Girls sing Ulster songs. Inscriptions on the walls say "Down with the Pope."

On the Catholic side the houses are still as death. Some are burning. Signs are seen saying, "Up with the Republic."

Last night huge Protestant throngs filled the streets, but plain clothes men persuaded them to disperse, thereby proving that Irishmen are led and not driven. A Protestant woman in the troubled area declared that peace only will come when the Catholics are exterminated. She objected principally to the British, who she alleged, threaten Protestant crowds.

British Warship Active.

BELFAST, June 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British destroyer Warwick, which searched the steamer Crastue in Lough Foyle, off the northern Londonderry coast, halted two other vessels bound for Londonderry and warned them not to stop anywhere unless so ordered by warships.

Heavy firing between Irish republican army forces and Ulster special constables occurred during the night at Dungannon Cross, on the Louth-Armagh border.

FRANCE FIGHTS BANKER'S SLASH OF GERMAN DEBT

PARIS, June 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The chamber of deputies this evening by a vote of 484 to 100 gave Premier Poincaré a free hand to continue to direct the foreign policy of France along the lines he has pursued since he assumed power.

The vote also approved of the government's attitude at the recent Genoa conference, left the government the sole judge as to whether or not France shall be represented at The Hague conference, and reserved to the government the right to act alone toward Germany in case of a flagrant violation of the Versailles treaty.

The vote came after one of the most stormy sessions ever witnessed in the French chamber. Once the Communists made a concerted rush at the royalists. Other deputies intervened.

See Attack on French Claims.

M. Herriot charged the premier with being responsible for the question of international loans not being put before the Genoa conference.

"And I made no mistake," the official stenographic report of the proceedings quotes the premier as saying.

"Before the reparations commission, or rather right beside it in the bankers' commission, we may see right now most formidable attempts being effected against France for the purpose of subordinating international loans to a new amputation of our claim against Germany."

"This morning, accepting my responsibilities as chief of the government, I informed the representative of France on the reparations commission that he must not accept the proposition."

Urges Cut in Reparations.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
PARIS, June 2.—The Morgan committee of bankers today recommended a reduction of the 125,000,000 gold marks ($12,500,000,000) reparations bill to the allied governments and then adjourned until Wednesday. The committee decided that no important series of international loans for the conversion of the German war debt could be floated under present conditions.

The French press is discouraged over the prospects for the $1,000,000,000 loan, saying Germany will get one-fourth, Belgium will get 1,000,000,000, and America will get 1,000,000,000 gold marks to pay the Rhine army costs, while out of the remainder France will receive 13 per cent for reconstruction, which will be almost nothing.

The gasoline had been set on fire by a chemical which blazes when immersed in water. And the chemical had been sent into action by water from a melting cake of ice. On the door of the shop had been pinned a note reading: "If anything should happen to this store notify the owner."

6 G. O. P. ENTRIES IN IOWA RACE FOR U. S. SENATE

Convention May Have to Make Nomination.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Des Moines, Ia., June 2.—[Special.]—A political contest of great importance in the Republican party will culminate next Monday in the Iowa primary for the nomination of a candidate for United States senator to fill the two year vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Kenyon.

To what extent the farmers have become affected by radical doctrine in this predominately agricultural state, with a population 63 per cent rural, is the principal question of interest to the political observer.

There are six candidates for the Republican nomination for senator in the field, offering as many shades of opinion on issues of the hour.

Radicals Support Brookhart.

The candidate who seems to be regarded generally as the most formidable is Col. Smith W. Brookhart, a Washington, Ia., lawyer and a world war veteran, who commands the support of the radical farmers and working men. It would occasion no surprise if he were to lead the field of candidates next Monday, but whether he can achieve the 35 per cent of the total vote necessary to direct nomination is problematical.

Unless Brookhart wins in the primary he will not win at all, for his managers concede that he would have no chance in the Republican convention which will nominate the candidate in the event of the failure of any aspirant to poll 35 per cent of the popular vote.

That Brookhart will win with 25 or 27 per cent of the vote is the prediction of his friends.

The most prominent conservative candidate is former Representative Charles E. Pickett of Waterloo, leader of marked ability, whose position on public questions appeals powerfully to all business men, farmers and working men who abhor the radicalism of Brookhart.

Between these two poles we find Clifford Thorne, a lawyer, who achieved national prominence some years ago by the annoyance he caused the railroad corporations on the question of their concealed profits, and later opened a law office in Chicago and specialized on the representation of shippers seeking reduced freight rates.

Thorne is more conservative than Brookhart but more radical than Pickett. Thorne finds support largely among such conservative agrarian elements as compose the American Farm Bureau federation, while Brookhart appeals to the radical farmer's union.

Would Repeal Cummins-Each Act.

Brookhart would repeal the Cummins-Each transportation act as Wall street inquiry, while Thorne defends the law in the main, suggesting its amendment in some particulars. Pickett says he will represent and serve the Republican party, but will join no bloc, while Thorne offers himself as a recruit to the farm bloc captained now by Senator Capper.

The other candidates are Congressman Burton E. Sweet of the Third district, who ranks as a conservative Republican, but has lined up with the farm bloc in congress on occasion; Leslie E. Franco, a Des Moines real estate operator, who offers himself as a compromise between radical and standpatter, and Col. Claud M. Stanley of Corning, who seems to be running chiefly on his war record.

In the event of a deadlock in the convention the most probable nominee would be Senator Rawson, who was appointed by Gov. Kendall to fill the Kenyon vacancy pending the selection of a successor and who announced when he accepted the appointment that he would not be a candidate in the primary.

Democrats Are Active.

What of the Democrats in Iowa, it may be asked. Well, there are quite a number of Democrats in Iowa, but they don't make much noise. They are going to have a primary and nominate a ticket, and Clyde Herring, the popular Des Moines automobile agent, is going to be the nominee for senator without opposition. The Democrats, one hears, will do most of their voting in the Republican primary for Brookhart.

FLEES HOLLYWOOD

GLORIA SWANSON.

PARIS, June 2.—"I have come to Europe temporarily to escape from Hollywood," explained Gloria Swanson, American moving picture actress, today. Miss Swanson said since the Taylor murder scandal in the California movie colony "the people in Hollywood live spying on each other."

ocrats, one hears, will do most of their voting in the Republican primary for Brookhart.

The Democrats are not in the habit of electing senators in Iowa, but they profess to have high hopes this year.

If Brookhart should be nominated Mr. Herring would expect the conservative Republicans to flock to his banner. If a conservative Republican is chosen, Mr. Herring will have no doubt of tremendous support by the radical Republicans.

"FINES" EXACTED BY UNION TOLD AT QUESSE TRIAL

More testimony of the payment of money to officials of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, ten of whom, including William A. Quesse, the president, are on trial before Judge John A. Swanson, was introduced yesterday by Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Haber in support of the state's contention that the men are guilty of conspiracy.

Miss Lillian C. Hummel, 4362 Grace street, testified that she was compelled to do her own janitor work for three weeks because she discharged her janitor, George S. Parker, a realty dealer, testified that he had paid $175 to John D. Sullivan, one of the defendants, to settle the strike called on Miss Hummel's building.

Harold H. Burke, 425 Barry avenue, another realty dealer, stated that he had paid $150 to union officials, having been originally asked to pay $300. John P. Nussebaum, owner of an apartment at 6234 South Park avenue, testified that he paid $500 to Quesse, his "fine" having been reduced from $2,000.

HEAD OF ELGIN SCHOOLS HANDS IN RESIGNATION

Robert I. White, for sixteen years superintendent of the Elgin public schools, and over whose elimination as educational head that city has been in a turmoil since the suicide Monday night of Miss Mary Long, Sheridan school principal, today handed his resignation to Dr. B. H. Abbott, president of the board of education. He states he severs his connections with the Elgin schools Sept. 1, 1922.

Mrs. McCormick's Views Prevail on Women's 'Expo'

Accepting the logic of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, leaders in the Women's Progress exposition, which originally planned to open today in the Coliseum for a week's run, decided yesterday that the display will be conducted this fall or in the early spring of 1923.

BOY MAN'S VIEW OF ORGANIZED UNIONISM. May 21.—I regret to see such an article printed as the one in the signature of Charles today. The gentleman (I) now what he is talking about, careless with facts. He says: "not one union man in Chicago has under the so-called Landis" carried a paid up union card years, and am working in every day, and on the job with her man who has a card. In where I used to work several there were six or seven more cards and were working every day award jobs. Wake up, men, and educate yourself before into print.

Further: "Why not print the facts for once?"

he does not want the truth. The real facts are that the all torn to pieces by internal hundreds of the clean American men who were formerly the of organized labor have quit meetings to listen to agitators in due to be spent to be beat up or kill men whose was that "the union" was led. In the last few years the have been so corrupt that the at in them has refused to be a longer in the crimes perpetration. Yes, crimes, I said, and word carefully.

facts are, Mr. Bergman, ing is going on without you mind. He raves on: "But, of anybody knows you are the big newspaper in the world, any sense about right or would thank God for the workers. They are the most law abiding people in Chicago"

WEREN'T QUITE

This will save you Hundreds of Dollars and Years of waiting - TEN TESTS

"LOOK before you leap TEST before you buy"

YOU wouldn't buy a suit or an overcoat, a washing machine, a suite of furniture, or anything else without investigating and giving the purchase due consideration, so why jump in and buy real estate on the excitement plan with your eyes shut?

There are thousands of men and women in Chicago who have made fortunes by investing in Chicago Real Estate—there are thousands investing in Chicago Real Estate today—and there are thousands MORE who would do so if they knew the rules—the tests whereby they could absolutely safeguard themselves in making an investment in real estate.

You can do anything safely if you only know the simple rules which govern the transaction. In investing in real estate there are safe and sure rules—or tests—just as there are in any other kind of a transaction.

"Ten Tests" takes the guess out of buying

Perhaps you have envied friends and acquaintances who have made big money through real estate investments. Perhaps you have made money in real estate yourself, but if you could have known ALL of the tests to apply to your investments, you could have made MORE.

Whether you are buying a home or for profit, there is absolutely no secret or mystery about it—there is a WRONG and a RIGHT way to do everything. On this page I am giving you a set of rules which anyone can follow—the most valuable information ever given to a prospective real estate purchaser.

These "TEN TESTS of a Real Estate Investment" are the result of the combined experience of over 30 years building and marketing real estate. Before you invest a dollar in Real Estate anywhere apply these TEN TESTS.

Carry these "TEN TESTS" in your vest pocket

Before you turn this page cut out the "TEN TESTS" given here. This may save you hundreds of dollars in the purchase price and years of waiting for values to rise. If you are investing for a home, extraordinary caution should be used, because you are buying for a long time to come—not like a package of breakfast food you buy today and eat tomorrow. If you are buying for an investment, for a quick turnover and big profits, if you do not make your selection at the RIGHT TIME and in the RIGHT PLACE, you may have to wait years for your profits.

Ten Tests of a Real Estate Investment

The Result of Many Years' Real Estate Experience

- 1—Buy a lot in a subdivision that is developed—one that has houses surrounding it—also that has sewers, water, gas and sidewalks in TODAY and fully paid for.
- 2—Buy a lot in a subdivision which is located on transportation. Your lot should be in a property that has transportation TODAY, not PROMISED transportation.
- 3—Buy where the property is zoned and restricted—not where any one can slap together any kind of a shack, where business and residences are mixed, where wood and brick houses are side by side, where no building lines are maintained, where there is no minimum cost for a building, BECAUSE it will take many years to increase in value and during all of those years it will be a liability instead of an asset.
- 4—Buy property conveniently accessible to good schools, good markets, also churches and places of amusement.
- 5—Buy on property value alone, not from a pretty picture of a bungalow the real estate man promises to build for you in order to sell you a vacant lot for more than it is actually worth. There are thousands of responsible builders in Chicago who will serve you when you are ready and hundreds of reliable architects who will supervise your building for a small fee.
- 6—Buy property located along or near avenues of Chicago's growth and development. These avenues are section line streets on which surface lines are operated and main arteries, such as Clark St., Broadway, Sheridan Road and Ogden Avenue.
- 7—Buy AHEAD—not AFTER general district improvements are made. Get in on the ground floor either before or while the improvements are being made. By "General District Improvements" I mean such improvements as the Michigan Boulevard Bridge, the widening of 12th Street, the boulevarding of Ogden Avenue to Lincoln Park, or the Pershing Road boulevard and improvements.
- 8—Buy on the property itself, not from a plat. Insist on seeing the property for yourself. Walk around and over it, study the district, insist on the salesman showing you that the sewers, water, gas mains and sidewalks are completed.
- 9—Buy on value, not price. The best merchandise is always the highest priced—the cheapest the MOST EXPENSIVE.
- 10—Buy property which is guaranteed by a responsible title guarantee company, such as The Chicago Title and Trust Company. Check this guarantee and satisfy yourself that it insures you a clear and unincumbered title to your property, in FEE SIMPLE.

BRIDE OF SERB KING TO OBSERVE OLD TRADITIONS

Will Carry Bread, Wine, and Clothes to Home.

BUCHAREST, Roumania, June 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—The entire Roumanian royal family will travel in state to Belgrade early next week for the wedding of Princess Marie of Roumania to King Alexander of Yugoslavia. Accompanied by Premier Brătianu, Foreign Minister Ducea, and Minister of Transport Mocu, the royal party will leave Bucharest Monday evening, traveling by train to Turnu Severin, near Orsova, on the lower side of the famous iron gates of the Danube. Thence they will proceed up the Danube on the royal yacht escorted by British, Jugo-Slav, and Roumanian destroyers.

Arriving at Save Quay in Belgrade, the royal party will be received by King Alexander and the mayor of the city, who will present King Ferdinand of Roumania with the golden tray bearing bread and salt as a pledge of Slav amity and hospitality.

The Duke of York, who will represent the English royal family, is expected to arrive in Belgrade Tuesday morning. The wedding ceremony will take place in the cathedral at 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

Observe Serb Superstitions. All the Serbian traditions and superstitions will be scrupulously observed. The bride will not cross the threshold of her future home until she is married. On entering her new abode she will carry a loaf of bread and a cup of wine as symbols of the joy and plenty which she brings the king. Under the other arm she will carry articles of clothing for herself and her husband.

According to the Serbian custom, the bride must supply the husband with all his raiment.

The new queen will then kiss a male child, in observance of a custom intended to insure her first born being a son.

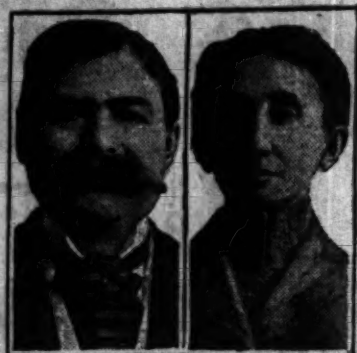

The honeymoon of Alexander and Marie will be spent at one of the royal castles of Jugo-Slavia.

Amnesty for Prisoners. In connection with the wedding complete amnesty will be granted Roumanian political prisoners, their pardon being announced on the day of the ceremony.

Princess Marie is receiving hundreds of costly and quaint gifts. Among the latest presents was a stock of rams with golden horns from her Albanian admirers. Another was a Bible written in letters of gold from Roumanian peasants. Queen Marie has presented her daughter with an exquisite set of furniture of Byzantine design, embossed by herself in flowers and gold.

WOOLWINE FACES WOMAN'S CHARGE AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., June 2.—The Los Angeles county civil and police commission today recommended that the county grand jury conduct an investigation of charges of immorality preferred against Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, by Miss Ida Wright Jones, formerly an investigator in his office. The grand jury was in session and the commission planned to transmit its recommendations.

Miss Jones was recently discharged by Woolwine with the statement that he had learned she had planned to relate a series of episodes in which she claimed they had both participated, according to her story, for the purpose of discrediting Woolwine politically.

Don't blame the camera when your film goes "blind"

Load it instead with the new Ansco Film

MANY a faithful camera has unjustly shouldered the blame when the pictures were poor. The true cause, were it known, was a film that went "blind". Blind because it couldn't adapt itself to a wide enough range of light conditions.

The film that has the wider range

Now comes the new Ansco Speedex Film, the film with the wider range. Just as the human eye adapts itself to dull light, bright light, or the light intensities in between, so does this new Ansco Film to a degree unknown with film of the past. No other film is adaptable to such a wide range of light conditions. It means the new Ansco Film gets many a picture that other film would miss.

Convince yourself of this Ansco achievement

It's easy to convince yourself. Load your camera with the new Ansco Film (fits any camera). Take your pictures in the usual way. You'll be surprised and delighted, too, with the exceptional high average of perfect results. It's all because the new Ansco Film has that wider range of exposure.

SENATE CLEARS TRACK TO RUSH BONUS THROUGH

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(Special.)—Prospects for early action on the bonus bill improved materially today when the senate, without a dissenting voice, sidetracked the tariff appropriation bill. The action gave the right of way to the bonus bill.

The same action will be taken concerning the naval appropriation bill and other measures. Pro-bonus sentiment is so strong that if the tariff could be laid aside for the army and navy bills it could be laid aside for the bonus bill. Today's action will be regarded as a precedent and will be used as a lever to force consideration of the bonus.

Furthermore, authentic information has come to senators that fully six months will be required to set up the governmental machinery necessary to administer the bonus law. The bonus bill, as revised by the senate finance committee, is scheduled to become effective Jan. 1, 1923. It is going to take six months for the government to get ready to carry the measure into effect, the bill ought to be passed before June 1, senators agreed.

NEW HURDLES FOR TARIFF

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(Special.)—For the first time since April 1, the senate today sidetracked the tariff bill and gave the army appropriation bill the right of way to make it certain that the appropriation measure is enacted into law before the end of the fiscal year, June 30. It is possible that the army bill will be passed by tomorrow night and that the senate can resume discussion of the tariff on Monday.

The interruption gave Republican finance committee members an opportunity to put in the day at work on various suggestions to modify provisions of the tariff bill to which objections have been raised. Already the committee has proposed a number of amendments reducing rates.

Inasmuch as the naval appropriation bill must be passed during June and conference reports on both the army and naval bills approved, prospects of making progress on the tariff bill this month are not bright. The bonus bill also is likely to contribute to further delays.

CANADA HAS NOT REJECTED LAKES TO OCEAN CANAL

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., June 2.—(Special.)—The government of Canada has not turned down the request of the American government that a treaty be negotiated looking to the completion of the great lakes-St. Lawrence seaway.

An impression that has been created by this effect from the brief statement made in parliament by Prime Minister McKenna King, it was made clear here today, is an erroneous one.

Charles P. Craig, executive director of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway association, who is in Washington, has been forwarded a copy of the record of the incident in the parliament at Ottawa wherein the prime minister alluded to the treaty. This shows that the prime minister meant only that there would be a temporary delay in cabinet consideration of the plan and that the matter would be taken up for thorough consideration in the near future.

"Upon inquiry into the situation," said Mr. Craig tonight, "I find that Sir Henry Drayton, following the prime minister's statement that the present was not an opportune moment to take the matter up, inquired."

"Does the government intend to table the request which the government of the United States has made regarding the treaty?"

"The prime minister replied that it did not and would be pleased to bring down the correspondence."

EX-PRIEST HELD AS THE SLAYER OF HIS BROTHER

Montreal, Que., June 2.—The Rev. J. Adelard Delorme, unfrocked Catholic priest, today was held for trial by the grand jury on the charge of having murdered his half-brother, Raoul Delorme, a student at Ottawa university.

The state charges that the former priest killed his brother to obtain control of $165,000 which was left by their parents. It further is charged that the college youth was induced to insure his life for $25,000 seven days before his death.

The action of the grand jury was based largely on the testimony of Detective Georges La Jole of the Montreal police force. The detective read what he asserted was a confession which was made to him by the former priest.

The Alleged Confession.

In this alleged confession Adelard Delorme was quoted as saying that he shot his brother in his own home about 5 o'clock in the afternoon of Jan. 6, when no one else was in the house. He also said he chloroformed his brother as he lay dying on the floor and carried his body to the basement room, where he loaded it on the automobile in which he conveyed it to the outlying suburb of Snowdon Junction, where he threw the body into the snow covered highway where it was found the next day.

Suspicion had hovered about the former priest almost from the hour the body of his half brother, with six bullet holes in the head, was found frozen in the snow. The wrists were tied behind the back with a length of stout cord. The head was wrapped in blood-soaked napkins and a piece of quilt, over which the tails of the overcoat had been drawn and pinned to the chest.

Priest Identified Body.

In the pockets were two letters addressed to the young man, through which identification was made. This was later verified by the priest, who visited the morgue and said the body was that of his half brother, Raoul.

Father Delorme celebrated mass on the occasion of the student's funeral, and subsequently announced that he had deposited $10,000 in a Montreal bank which he would pay to the person bringing about the arrest and conviction of those responsible for his half brother's death. He also stated that he would demand a public execution of the murderer.

The Woman He Forgot

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS.
Mrs. Clayton, beautiful and young, although the mother of a sixteen-year-old son, returns to England after an exile of seventeen years, when she learns that her son, Bill, is in love with Lady Helen Margery, a woman years older than he. Nora's real name is Helen Thorpe. She was married when extremely young to Lucien Thorpe, whom she loved passionately, although he was blind. Lucien was tricked by Lady Helen, who loved him, and by Capt. Fairchild, who loved Nora, into believing his young wife had betrayed him. With her two-year-old child he cast her out of his house. Shortly after she and the child were in a railway accident and she allowed her husband and friends to believe they had been killed.

The day she reaches England Nora meets her husband, who is no longer blind, at the home of her friend, Fanny Flute. Lucien does not recognize her. He and Bill are friends. Nora and her son quarrel about Helen, whom he has already married, but Helen, who knows her allowance from her divorced husband would cease if the marriage were annulled, forces Bill to keep it secret, even from his mother. Lucien discovers it and tells her to leave.

Lucien becomes a frequent visitor at Nora's flat in London. She is not yet ready to forgive him and to tell him who she is, but she finds she is happy to be near him. She has lost her lovely singing voice, by means of which she supported her child and herself in Italy, and is compelled to find other means of earning a living. She secures a position as manager of a music publishing company, which is owned by Peter Margery, Helen's husband. Bill is greatly distressed when he hears the news, and insists upon having a divorce and going to work. Lucien takes him into his business.

Bill becomes disillusioned by Helen's selfishness and they quarrel. He goes to Jamaica on business and meets Marion Flute, in whom he becomes interested. He returns to find that Helen is no longer receiving money from Margery and is planning to go to the States.

Helen learns from Margery that she is still his wife, that their divorce was not legal. When Lucien goes to Italy and that Bill is his son, confided to her care by Helen, the Lady Helen is found dead and Bill is suspected of having murdered her.

INSTALLMENT LIV.

"ARE YOU MY FATHER?"

"I, Roger Fairchild, knowing that Almighty God is waiting to receive my soul, cannot come before him without telling the truth. I want to see Helen Margery, but with no thought of violence in my heart, although the woman and myself together once did something which drove the sweetest woman in the world to her death, and death the both of us deserved."

"I told the servant my name was Clayton, well knowing that Lady Helen would not see the likes of me should she know who I was. She would see the dead of whom she was so fond and that had left her. I needed some money and after all I had done for her it was only right she should help me. But she was angry, and harsh words passed between us. I remember she had a revolver. I didn't see her take it from anywhere, but I saw it in her hand and she pointed it at me. I said, 'Put it down, for shame, woman, that you should wish to hurt an old friend.' I tried to take it away from her then, but she was like a wildcat and I know she would shoot me if I had not been so afraid. So I laid off and we struggled until the thing went off and she fell back a corpse."

"I laid the revolver on a table and went out, for there was nothing I could do for her. I didn't see anybody in the hall or on the stairs. I meant to tell her this before, but, as Mr. Clayton had disappeared, it didn't seem necessary. Before Almighty God I swear I would never have let an innocent man be accused."

"The doctor is writing this down for me. I can't say anything more, but it is all true what I say. God knows I am sorry for what happened, but it wasn't murder. There is no more to say. The sweet ghost of the woman I love has forgiven my great sin and will intercede for me. I shall die in peace. (Signed) 'Roger Fairchild.'"

So passed Roger Fairchild and with him the uncertainty of Helen Margery's death. There was plenty of correlative proof that his confession was true.

"I spent the better part of Monday in London, leading him patiently to the clearing up of the sorry business as concerned himself personally. He had to see Peter Margery, which was a great trial, and as a matter of fact went through the ceremony of being unidentified by the parlor maid. Broadman. All the time his mind was on something else. At that Sunday morning conference he had received an extraordinary impression, which, instead of diminishing under examination, grew stronger. In telling the story of the tragedy of Lucien Thorpe's life and the part Helen Margery and Fairchild had played in it, Sam Dawlish had touched familiar points in Bill's consciousness."

"For some reason or other they brought back to his memory the memory of his mother's horror that he should link his life with Helen's. Her exact words he could not recall, but Nora had lost control of herself, crying out that Helen had enslaved him as she had enslaved his father, only in his father's case, there was some excuse. 'You were blind.'"

At the time he had not interpreted her words literally. And then he remembered that she had told him once of a railway accident they had been in together. There was also the fact that she had always avoided the subject of his father. He had never seen a photograph of his father, never met any of his relations, although distant cousins had been referred to casually. But plenty of people, including Helen, had commented upon her resemblance to Lucien Thorpe. Helen had been persistent and a little bit about it—as though she were discrediting his mother in some way. It was one of the things which had helped to alienate him from her."

Yesterday he had noticed his mother's pleading, almost personal interest in Fairchild, when discussing him with the altogether impersonal Sir Wynne. It was as though, in the goodness of her heart, Nora pleaded for some one who had wronged her deeply, and whom she had forgiven."

So while he dragged about attending upon the pleasure of Inspector Grid, suffering the company of Peter Margery, whose duty it was to be present, listening while Miss Steadman denied ever having seen him, and signing statements, and awaiting the trial, Bill's mind for the first time in his rather thoughtless young life was busy with the mystery of his own origin."

He got back to Abbotts' Meadow at dusk and found Lucien strolling on the terrace impatiently awaiting his return. "Hello, this looks like good news," the boy exclaimed, as they met. He referred to the fact that the eye bandage had disappeared, its place being taken by a pair of unromantic spectacles. "Better than I hoped for," grumbled Lucien. "But what's your news?"

"Right as rain—disinfect, done for. O, I'm so thankful it's over!" Lucien flung an arm over his shoulders.

"My boy—you can't be more thankful than I am," he said, his voice trembling with deep emotion. The smoked spectacles were baffling. Bill tried to meet the eyes behind them and failed.

"I wanted to ask you something—" he said a little breathlessly. "Are you—are you by any chance my father?"

The question surprised Lucien. He had no answer ready. He had never thought of Bill making the discovery for himself, and had spent many sleepless nights wondering how the news was to be broken. Until this great day told. She had been vehement on that subject, determined to protect what Lucien now knew to be her just rights. "Bill waited. Indeed the silence had answered him. "Would you mind so much if I were your father?" Lucien asked. It seemed impossible that Bill should not sit in judgment on him. He had heard the story of Eileen and her babe, grown upon a cold world by a jealous man, who took the heavenly evidence furnished by her subject above the word of his own wife. And now Bill knew that Eileen Thorpe was his own mother, and that he, himself, had been the disowned child. What mercy could Lucien expect from him?

"I don't think I should mind it at all," Bill said slowly. Then he put out his hand. "You must have had a pretty rotten time all these years," he said.

Something choked Lucien. It was incredible that Bill should understand; seemingly he did. He had been through too much himself to sit in judgment on the errors of others. Bill was no longer a boy, but a man, with all a man's and sometimes bitter knowledge of the world behind him. Lucien could have wept for his son's lost youth, but had Bill been younger in experience he might have been harsher in forgiveness. "I take it that mother doesn't hold anything against you," he said awkwardly.

"Sometimes I wonder. But lately she's been good to me, Bill. The strange part of it is that she doesn't yet know that I know she's my wife." Bill stared at him. "Good heavens, what do you mean?"

Lucien smiled wryly. "She's been having a little game with me." And he explained the almost incredible situation in which Nora Clayton had found herself when she returned after long exile to England and to Abbotts' Meadow. "Fanny had picked her out for my second wife," he concluded. "And I had to go blind again before I recognized her. Bill, it's a strange world." To Bill, that evening, it was a world bordering upon enchantment. He had his own romance and was free to declare it. During dinner he looked at Marion more than he ate, and occasionally he looked a little shyly at the parlor maid, wondering if it were possible that she, too, could experience love somehow, the idea made him uncomfortable. She had always belonged to him, and he was jealous at the thought of sharing her affection even with his own father. The father idea was too new as yet.

Within half an hour after dinner Mrs. Flute and Sam Dawlish found themselves alone in the drawing room as he lay on one of a long row of jumpers and got Sam to hold a skein of wool for her while she knitted it into a ball. She liked Sam Dawlish, and a certain sprightliness in her manner gave him an opening which another man might have been quick enough to take. After Marion was married, Mrs. Flute said, she would be happy, although, of course, Abbotts' Meadow took a lot of looking after, particularly for a middle-aged widow, who felt sometimes that she would enjoy to have more leisure than fell to her portion.

$448 CHECK TO SMALL IN BOND DEAL IS SHOWN

Balance from Interest Check Sent Curtis.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Waukegan, Ill., June 2.—(Special.)—A check representing part of an interest payment on one of the famous "pocket" notes made out to Gov. Len Small and cashed upon his personal indorsement was introduced today in his trial on charges of conspiracy to pocket $2,000,000 in interest on public funds.

It was presented in connection with the governor's purchase of $10,000 worth of Franklin county bonds. He paid for them with a check for $10,500 made out to Vernon S. Curtis, another of the alleged conspirators.

That check previously had been identified as a payment of interest upon an Armour & Co. note which the state contends was bought with part of the $23,000,000 of public funds placed in the "Grant Park bank," of which Curtis was head.

The bonds were sold at 101 and drew 6 per cent. The cost was less than the $10,500 Curtis check, and the bond house which made the sale wrote out its check in the name of Len Small for the difference, $448.11. On the reverse side of this check appears Small's signature.

Head of Bond House Testifies.

The check representing the Armour interest was not indorsed by the governor, but it carries the indorsement of Curtis and the Hanchett Bond company. William F. Hanchett, head of the company, and Peter W. Dean, one of its salesmen, testified to the sale. Mr. Hanchett identified the two checks, his company's "statement of sale," which was made out to the First Trust and Savings bank of Kankakee, Ill., and also a letter from Small ordering the bonds in which he used the words "I," "me," and "my" without any reference to the bank.

Mr. Hanchett said he delivered the bonds to Small on June 2, 1920. He said he also wrote and gave Small the check for the difference between the Curtis check and the cost of the bonds.

Defense Fights Testimony.

Previous to this testimony there was heated argument when the state for the first time tried to present evidence concerning the Grant Park Trust and Savings bank. A score of witnesses from this bank, the Curtis Trust company, of Grant Park, and the First Trust and Savings bank were on hand.

James H. Wilkerson, assistant attorney general, called Ward B. Whitlock, assistant chief examiner in the State Auditor Russell's office. He produced reports of the Grant Park Trust and Savings bank for the years 1917, 1918, 1919, and 1920 and the defense objected. It was the record of this bank that, according to Cashier Norman Griffin, were accidentally burned by a janitor.

Attorney Wilkerson implied that the state records concerning the bank might have some bearing on that situation, but he said the immediate purpose was to follow up the distribution of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 in interest that had been traced into the institution.

Wilkerson Tells Purpose.

"One of the material things in this case," he said, "is what happened to that money that got into the Grant Park Trust and Savings bank, and here are the reports of that bank, which are filed with the state auditor."

Attorneys C. C. Le Forgue, W. W. Schroeder, and A. F. Beaubien, for the defense, argued the reports were not admissible on the grounds that they came from a "third party," and Attorney Le Forgue charged that the real purpose was to show by implication that the Grant Park Trust and Savings bank had no relation with that other Curtis institution, the "Grant Park bank" which the state contends was a "fictitious" or "vest-pocket" bank.

Judge Charles C. Edwards said first he thought the records were admissible as a "circumstance" in the case, but later said he would withhold his ruling for the time being.

Bares Plot Against Him.

"He received knowledge of the plot to have himself put out of office from Col. Barnshaw last September, he said. Agent Roche had tapped the telephone wires of two 'bootleggers' and during the conversation Roche heard of the formation of plans to 'get the three kicked out of office.'"

At the completion of Col. Cline's plea to the court he was asked by Judge Carpenter whether or not he had any evidence to support the position, which he presented some time ago, alleging irregularities in the district attorney's office. Noble B. Judah, attorney for Col. Cline, asserted that the evidence was in his hands at the present time.

CLEAR CLINNIN OF CHARGES IN FEDERAL COURT

Colonel Gets Clean Bill as Hearing Starts.

Col. John V. Cline, former assistant United States district attorney, who was a suspended judge, was cleared of all charges in a hearing in federal court yesterday.

Following the uncovering of a "fixed" booze case in which his name was mentioned, was given a clean bill of health by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter at the opening of the investigation of the district attorney's office yesterday.

Judge Carpenter announced from the bench that Judge Cline was a "fixed" booze case in which his name was mentioned, was given a clean bill of health by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter at the opening of the investigation of the district attorney's office yesterday.

Col. Cline presented to the court a letter from Judge Evans A. Evans, which said he was "satisfied that Col. Cline was free from all suspicion that might point against him." Former Judge K. M. Landis told him a few days before his resignation, Col. Cline said, that if he could ever do anything for Col. Cline he was ready for the call.

Since his suspension, he has received a great number of letters and communications from persons all over the country, telling him of their steadfast belief in his innocence, the colonel said.

The whole thing is part of a plot to have himself put out of office from Col. Barnshaw last September, he said. Agent Roche had tapped the telephone wires of two "bootleggers" and during the conversation Roche heard of the formation of plans to "get the three kicked out of office."

At the completion of Col. Cline's plea to the court he was asked by Judge Carpenter whether or not he had any evidence to support the position, which he presented some time ago, alleging irregularities in the district attorney's office. Noble B. Judah, attorney for Col. Cline, asserted that the evidence was in his hands at the present time.

BUCK PRIVATES SOCIETY IN DIRE NEED OF FUNDS

The Buck Privates society, 53 East Adams street, is faced by eviction from its quarters if financial assistance is not given by citizens interested. The organization is placing fifteen to twenty men in jobs daily, besides furnishing recreation parties for ex-servicemen.

The Labrador Building corporation, from which the society rents, has sent notice that the check given for last month's rent was returned marked "insufficient funds."

The shortage is the first experienced by the society, of which Edward M. McGuire is national representative. Mr. McGuire has been confined to a sick bed for a month. During his absence, he says, $400 of the society's money was misappropriated by an employee.

Lends Chicago Gallows for Lake County Hanging

Sheriff Elmer Green of Lake county yesterday asked First Deputy Sheriff H. C. W. Laubheimer for use of the gallows used in the county jail. The gallows is to be used, unless the Supreme court intervenes, to hang Ignatz Pota, sentenced to die on June 16 for the murder of William Peterson, Winthrop Harbor motorcycle policeman, between Winthrop Harbor and Waukegan several months ago. Mr. Laubheimer granted the request, saying: "We have two gallows and easily can spare one of them."

Alienist Finds Bryant, Poison Pen Writer, Inmate

Eugene Bryant, "poison pen" writer, who confessed to sending more than 200 blackmail letters to Mrs. A. H. Shotwell, 223 Delaware place, was pronounced insane yesterday following an examination by Dr. William O. Krohn, state alienist. First Assistant State Attorney Edgar A. Jones said he would ask the chief justice that the criminal charge against Bryant be stricken off with leave to reinstate and that provision be made for sending Bryant to a psychopathic institution.

Tommy O'Connor's Pal Gets Long Term in Prison

An echo of the escape of Tommy O'Connor was heard in the Criminal court building yesterday when James La Porte, who accompanied the convicted murderer over the wall of the jail yard to freedom, but was later caught in Racine, Wis., was convicted of robbery with a gun before Judge Michael McKinley, and was sentenced to from ten years to life in the penitentiary.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Every Day He Asks Five Questions, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions which are accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send in your name and address with your questions to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, questions will be returned. For today's question, Eugene Beck, Sidney, Mich., was awarded $5.

The Question. Do you find habits hard to break? Where Asked. On the steps of the Art Institute. The Answers. Joseph G. Lemen, Los Angeles, Cal. advertising—if I recall my own habit breaking experiences correctly, my answer is that it depends upon the habit. No question about it, a deep seated habit of long standing, whether good or bad, is hard to break, although much depends upon the individual.

Miss Florence Richards, 3000 Arthington street, model—I'll admit that if it is a habit that affords a lot of pleasure it is pretty hard to break. But these little, meaningless, nonsensical habits that do us no good and no harm, it doesn't take much concentration to break them.

Earl Beach, 847 Wilson avenue, art student—Sins we are pretty much creatures of habit it follows that we are continually forming new ones and getting away from old ones. The question refers to the serious habits, by implication, I believe a full realization of the importance of any habit will enable us to break it.

Miss Elliott Terry, 4501 Wilcox street, art student—I don't know, for I can't recall ever having tried to break any habit. If I made up my mind to break a habit of mine I imagine it would be easy. People are always making good resolutions, but I don't know whether any of them ever keep them.

Charles McNulty, 1504 East 53d street, Western Union Telegraph company inspector—I depend upon the habit to a great extent. Seems to me if we really study ourselves we have a good chance of breaking any habit, providing we are really determined to do so. Wrong habits are easier to avoid than to break.

SOLDIER ARTIST WINS TRIBUNE MURAL CONTEST

Paul Chapman's Sketches Awarded $5,000 Prize.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

THE Tribune mural competition, which was launched last year by THE TRIBUNE, is closed. The prize of $5,000 is awarded to Paul Chapman, 6322 Winthrop avenue, was declared the winner.

Unquestionably, in making this decision, the jury of award gave the prize to an ex-serviceman. Mr. Chapman served with the First Cavalry on the Mexican border and later was one of Kelly's bucks, when he went overseas with the 149th artillery.

Recognizing the earnest work of the other competitors, THE TRIBUNE decided last night about a prize of $1,000 each should go to those ranking second and third, and that the four other contestants whose work was considered in the final award should be paid $500 each for their work. This is aside from the original offer, and is awarded to compensate the contestants for the time and expense incurred in the competition.

This means that Miss Hildred Melroe of New York City and William F. Walsh of Chicago will receive $1,000 each and Miklos Gaspar, Cady Howell, Charles E. Pierce and Mrs. Marie MacPherson, $500 each.

Chapman born in Chicago. Paul Chapman, winner of the first prize, is 34 years old and was born in Chicago. His art training consisted of about six months of serious work before the war, and of as much time as he has passed since the war as a student in the art school of the Chicago Art Institute.

He has tried to express in his designs the spirit of the war, and of the spirit of the press, that compound of truth, courage and printer's ink, into pictures. His success is remarkable. There is a freshness of thought and a youthful quality in the color, which mark his murals unmistakably.

The four painters, members of the jury, went straight to his designs. Their idea of his talent is conveyed in these words which may be quoted: "Mr. Chapman shows a mastery of the teaching of any school. His work is fresh, naive, genuine. A real thought underlies the manner of his painting. The charm of originality is in his. In our opinion, he is a coming man. THE TRIBUNE should be proud of having discovered him."

Sketches Depict Two Scenes. Two scenes are depicted in Mr. Chapman's murals. The scene in the old Tribune editor's room is amusing in its realism. The scene, the hanging lamp, the printing press, each in turn is food for interested contemplation. Grouped with Abraham Lincoln and Joseph Medill are other leaders of men of that time. You see Norman J. Judd and Judge David Davis among others, seated in boncave, informally, much resembling a group of village worthies. Nations are in pose, and impressive in conversation.

The Zenger trial has been treated more spiritually. A panel division of this shows Zenger being brought to court, and the crowd of curious women and children held at bay by the soldiers' staffs. In the courtroom, the verdict has been announced. Zenger, the spirit of freedom, the press and people triumphant, is the center of the scene, standing a little above the rest on a raised platform. He looks more like the writer of a man than a man. The whole court is a setting for his victory.

Restful to the Eye. In color the murals are light and clear. The freshness that characterizes the designs of the subject is also part of the color. Pale greens and blues and pinks are used. It is rather restful to the eye and will not weary the gaze the new room walls becomingly.

Those who formed the jury of award were John W. Norton, Arthur Covey, Eugene C. Rogers, J. H. Hunt, James O'Donnell, Bennett of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE staff, and Alfonso Jannelli.

The murals will be on view in gallery 24 in the east wing of the Art Institute until June 22.

Constance Will Never Visit Zion City Again

Miss Constance Park of Glencoe dropped into a Zion City soda parlor yesterday and was indulging in a glance over the menu when—

A stern visaged officer of the law warned her that the sleeves of her dress did not reach her elbows and told her to put on her coat or she would be arrested. Miss Park and her companions, Alvin, Peggy, Nelson, Betty Brown and E. W. Moseley, left the store and Zion City, warning the

THE KERNEL HITTING THE TRAIL

Chicago's Most INTERESTING Newspaper!

Although the Willis-Overland company, one of the large factors in the automobile industry, has "turned the corner" as far as immediate financial difficulties are concerned, a new development in stockholders' litigation has cropped up.

The view of settling the claims of the Willis corporation, the largest single holder of stock of the Willis-Overland company, and also of the latter company, Judge John M. Killeen yesterday called a conference of all interested parties for June 13 at Toledo, O. This action followed the filing of an intervening petition by the receivers of the Willis corporation, involving more than $4,000,000. The suit was an indirect result of the filing of a "proof of claims" by the Willis-Overland company for $3,077,764. It is said to be the largest claim.

Ask $126,444 Judgment.

The petitioners are asking a judgment of $126,444 and the return of money invested by the Willis corporation in the stock of the Willis-Overland company. The suit also is asked to have an accounting of the stock of the Willis-Overland company, and also to have an accounting of the stock of the Willis-Overland company, and also to have an accounting of the stock of the Willis-Overland company.

There is no remaining difference between the Willis-Overland company and the receivers of the Willis corporation, and the latter company, Judge John M. Killeen yesterday called a conference of all interested parties for June 13 at Toledo, O. This action followed the filing of an intervening petition by the receivers of the Willis corporation, involving more than $4,000,000.

Individual reports of the automobile companies are making an excellent showing of profits for April as exceeding $100,000, while cash and cash securities reached $4,000,000. The company recently paid $4,000,000 in cash for the purchase of the company's new plant.

Shipments and sales of the Moon Motor company in May are reported at approximately $600,000. The company's sales for last month set a new production record for the company with 1,000 cars. This is an average of 40 cars a day and a sales volume of $120,000.

FOR MERC
MARINE IN

Federal Oper
Impossible

The Tribune herewith of a series of articles
A. D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board, on the situation in regard to the war.

BY A. D. LASKER

ARTICLE I.

Nations, like individuals,
the masters of their own Whether America wills it time has come when we re-secure the first place on world commerce—a place in history by any strong in its own right in sea power means a strong marine; for there is no new wave to protect the na-shores, and the water trans-nation.

The first act ever passed American congress was to to encourage American shiping the period from the ment of our republic un-war, America developed the leading maritime na-world.

Halted by Civil War

With the finding of gold
nia, the lure of adventure attracted our young men seaboard and the Alleghen-great and at the time unde-pire lying to the westward, ment their frustrated long-of vast importance to our indeed the whole world) at beginning of the decline of can merchant marine.

The hurt given our marine through the civil war, known to all, followed by demand for men and cap-development of our coun-in a steady drop of inter-ping.

At the start of World
1914, America's passenger North Atlantic had dwindle cheerful total of six, to wit:
and, Kroonland, St. Paul,
Philadelphia, and New York given them in the way of aid by our government was edly the chief reason for were able to continue in that date.

In other words, 1914 no longer a merchant marine one utterly dependent on for the carriage of our sur-of course, we had had to be heavily, for the service of them.

Fortunately for us, Great and its allies, in the present world war, needed all the we could give them, and sent their ships to our shore own interest.

Lesson to U. S. in War

Perhaps not as fresh in ory is the marine experience of the war. This, conducted on a scale but at a great required more of Britain's her own use and less of materials. It resulted in curtailment of our industry when Britain, on whom we dependent for the greater portion of our shipping, withdrew a large number of her ships farmers and our manufacturers' surplus on which we depended, until even their doest was destroyed.

Immediately upon our entry in the war in 1917 there arose all the allies, voiced by Lithe prime minister of the maritime nation of the "ships, more ships, and ships," as the foremost from America.

Building to Fill a

We all remember the fever ishness with which, through driving shipyards were constructing new ships, resulting in the building of more ships, with more than 100 weight tons capacity.

We started to build them we might quickly and increased our man and ship front. No one fact of the war was a quicker confirmation of the Kaiser's recognition of the value of a fleet with a bridge of ships than that if every ship belonging to the government was a total cost of more than a billion dollars, had been lost at the war's end, Germany would have paid for the loss. The short cut that resulted in the building of a fleet of ships in a few months
